GORE WILL TESTIFY IN OWN DEFENSE

Senator Accused of Assault by Woman Expected to Take Stand To-Day.

ARGUMENTS BEGIN TUESDAY

Defendant Charges He Is Victim of Conspiracy by His Political Enemies.

Oklahoma City, Okla., February 15.— United States Senator Thomas P. Gore, of Oklahoma, is expected to take the stand in District Court here to-morrow morning as a witness in his own behalf in the $50,000 damage suit instituted by Mrs. Minnie E. Bond, who charges that the Senator attacked her in a Washington hotel on March 24 of last year. Senator Gore's testimony, it is understood, will practically complete the evidence of the defense, and it is expected that arguments will begin on Tuesday.

expected that arguments will begin on Tuesday.

James R. Jacobs, in whose room at the Washington hotel the indignities are alleged to have been offered Mrs. Bond, will probably testify for the plaintiff in rebuttal.

Neither side to-day had any announcement to make of their plans. Senator and Mrs. Gore spent the day receiving callers, and in the evening were guests at a dinner party. Attorneys for both sides were busy until late to-night preparing for the conclusion of the trial.

The trial began on Wednesday, Mrs. Bond, the first witness, alleged that Senator Gore attacked her while the two were in conference with regard to the appointment of her husband, Julian Bond, to a Federal position.

Attorneys for the plaintiff announced their case completed on Friday after half a dozen witnesses had testified in corroboration of Mrs. Bond. For the defense a dozen or more witnesses testified in support of Senator Gore's contention that he had been made the victim of a conspiracy, devised and carried out by his political enemies and by disappointed officescekers. One witness told of threats made to "get" the Senator, another of an admission said to have been made by one of the witnesses summoned by the plaintiff, that the whole affair was a "frame-up"; others related alleged incidents involving several of those who have testified for Mrs. Bond, which attorneys for the defense declare will go far toward proving their contention. Practically all the witnesses for the plaintiff admitted that they were disappointed seekers of political patronage.

Several More Days of Jack Frost's Reign

Washington, February 15.—All parts of the country except the Pacific Slope will be fast in Jack Frost's grasp until after Tuesday, according to the Weather Bureau. Higher temperatures will come the middle of the week.

"On the Pacific Slope," said the weekly bulletin to-night, "temperatures will average near or above the normal. East of the Rocky Mountains the weather will be fair during the next several days, except that local snows are probable on Monday and Tuesday over the Great Lakes, the upper Ohio Valley and the North Atlantic States.

"The next storm of importance will appear on the North Pacific Coast on Tuesday, and will cross the Great Ceutral Valleys on Thursday or Friday and the Eastern States near the end of the week. This disturbance will be preceded by a general change to warmer east of the Rocky Mountains, and it will be attended by snow in Northern and probably rains in the Southern States. There are no indications that this disturbance will be followed by a cold wave."

Hundreds of Thousands Out of In Chicago, Wires Are Down in Employment, and Suffering Is Intense.

Washington, February 15 .- For the purpose of finding work for the unemployed thousands now walking the streets of the country's larger citles and industrial centres, the Federal Commission of Industrial Relations today inaugurated an investigation to extend from Boston to Kansas City. Attention first will be given to public and private employment agencies, to is due to their lack of organization and inefficiency, and four investigators have been assigned to undertake this task, with orders to report within six task, with orders to report within six weeks.

The commission, it was announced to-day, regards the unemployed problem as a permanent one, because present conditions in the labor field are virtually the same as exist every year at this season. Therefore, besides seeking to find some measure of relief immediately for the suffering, it is proposed to gather material for the preparation of legislation by Congress to establish a Federal employment bureau, to serve as a clearing-house for public and private agencies, and to direct the movement of migratory workers.

Stories of suffering, particularly in direct the movement of migratory workers.

Stories of suffering, particularly in New York City, where 350,000 men and women are reported out of employment, stirred the commission to action.

"Hundreds of thousands of men, industrious and anxious to work, either are out of employment or without assurance that their jobs will continue another week or another day," said Chairman Frank P. Waish to-day, "Groups numbering from 100 to 1,000 stand outside our great industrial plants each morning at 5 o'clock, hoping the foreman will pull them out of line and put them to work. They are thankful if they get only a few hours' employment.

"Poorly nourished and thinly clad, these men gather each morning for the foreman's inspection, submit to his scrutiny, and many drift away to the cheap saloons or cheap lodging houses to await another chance.

"None can see this spectacle without realizing that here is something society cannot afford to tolerate. The problem of continuous employment for laborers is a problem that must be solved if we are to check the increase in our great army of hopeless, homeless men.

"If nothing else will avail, it may be in our great army of hopeless, homeless men.

"If nothing else will avail, it may be necessary to urge insurance against nonemployment."

Federal control of all employment agencies doing an interstate business is urged upon the commission by E. W. Carpenter, manager of the National Employment Exchange in New York City. This bureau was organized to serve as a model, and the claim is made that the evils from which migratory workers suffer at the hands of other agencies have been eliminated in its operation. Casual employment, the great cause for the demand for bread lines, will be attacked by the commission. Co-operation in an effort to eliminate this evil will be urged upon all employers.

Manuel L. Quezon and Manuel Earnshaw, resident commissioners of the Phillippines at Washington, expressed great satisfaction over the passage of the bill. Mr. Quezon said the action of the Assembly demonstrated conclusively that President Wilson's confidence in Filipino capacity is thoroughly justified.

The New York Central experienced the greatest difficulty west of Albany, where the snowfall was exceptionally heavy. General traffic in the Mohawk Valley towns is still at a standstill, streets and roads being completely blocked and water pipes frozen. Similar conditions exist in Southern New England.

While the railroads in New Jersey have managed to clear their tracks so that all trains are running on schedule time, the trolley roads throughout the State are still crippled, many of the intercity lines having suspended operations.

In this city 11,000 men and 2,800 wagons, working day and night, have managed to clear the main thoroughfares, but in many sections of the city the operation of surface cars has been abandoned. Falling temperature to night threatens to further impede the work of snow removal. North of Fifty-inth Street the cross streets are still blocked, and even in the downtown section trucks are being moved with four-horse teams, and automobiles are forced to seek devious routes to avoid the snow blockades.

In Brooklyn and the Bronx only the main traffic arteries have been cleared, and it is feared that Monday morning will witness one of the worst tle-ups of recent years.
